

I am writing to request that you do not alter the protections provided by the Indiana phone privacy law. The law has provided our family with a welcomed relief from telemarketing companies. After placing our name on the privacy list, incoming sales calls have decreased dramatically. Because I work from my home, this has allowed me to stay productive without annoying interruptions from phone solicitors. Before using the list, we recieved calls as early as 8am and as late as 9pm. Now, calls have been reduced to less than one per week. We love the phone privacy list. Please do not alter its effectiveness.
